SUNDAY .... OCTOBER 26 STARVING UNDER FORMALITY.

The poorer class of tennants in Ire and are starving to death as fast as the natural law allows them to, and still the government "in Vestigates, the case.

The fangs of hunger and famine are eating their way into the homes of these miserable and unprotected people, and the only consolation thrown out to them from the English Government is a circular, (which half of them can't read), stating that their cases will be look d into and something done for them.

What assistance is such trash, when in their very midst half naked starving women and children plead for semething to sustain life, and receive a segative shake the head in answer?

The guardians representing the government watch these wretched petitioners and inform them that it is impossible to grant relief in the form demaned, which simply amounts to a request for food

There is good reason to believe that in the interior of Ireland the distress is even more horrifying and revolting to the civilized world.

A little thought will prove to us the vast difference in our favor between the new and old world.

When the call for assistance reaches the ears of Americans from any port, she responds with wonderful rapidity, and even now is doing more for the sufferers of the Emerald Isle than her immediate neighbors.

We appeal to the farmers, mechanics, wage-workers, and all in dustrial people to read the speech in full before they champion free trade.

Those who are Americans in principle will stand by Senator Jones and sustain him on the tariff question as they have on the financial question.

John P. Jones stands at the head of list as the most profound thinker and ablest speaker in the United States on all economic question that interest the wealth producers of America.-Washington National View.

Any conceivable scheme that sends money out of the State, Nevada people may be depended on to support.

The idea seems to prevail that if we kick all the money out of the country we will soon become a prosperous State. - APPEAL

The APPEAL can depend upon it that there are thousands of religious cranks who would prefer to send money out of the State for a Louisiana lottery ticket, than to see a Nevada State Lot tery, even if it benefitted the State one-quarter of a million a morth. -Reveille.
